

Be it known to all that

Robert Rosenberg

has crossed over the International Dateline.

By skipping the day of Friday, January 24, 2020, the bearer of this certificate is one day younger than the age that appears on any official document.

The International Dateline is the hypothetical line on the earth's surface coinciding with the 180th meridian on the globe and designates the place where each calendar day first begins.
